Grant Effectiveness

Having the opportunity to have a music teacher meet with staff regularly has improved the quality of instruction of the teaching staff at Woodlawn Preschool. Music is more prevalent and a greater variety of music is being used. The teaching staff is also using parachutes and puppets more often. Puppets are used in telling stories by staff and children are telling stories to the other children with puppets. Children are moving in a variety of ways to shorten transitions and wait time.

By having Teri Noaeill from the Community Music School as an instructor during our school year it has given teachers more confidence in using music, being creative and as an instructional tool. The staff is asking for more opportunities with music leadership. Thank you for supporting this opportunity.
